hello

ÉDITO

Dear readers,

What a pleasure it is to present you with the 2025-2026 edition of our practical guide, designed to accompany you throughout this new academic year. Whether you're starting out at Sciences Po Lille or are already familiar with the campus, this guide will make your life easier and help you make the most of every day.

You'll find all the essential information you'll need to find your way around campus, contact our staff, and keep from missing out on all the important events of this academic year. But this guide offers much more : it provides answers to all your questions about health, inclusion, professional integration, and the fight against all forms of discrimination and violence.

A true reflection of Sciences Po Lille's vivid and supportive spirit, this guide includes interactive digital tools, with QR codes to easily access updated information all year long.

Happy exploring, happy reading and, most of all, have an amazing 2025-2026 academic year full of adventure, learning and shared commitments.

Welcome to your home
at Sciences Po Lille !

Étienne Peyrat

Professor of History
Director of Sciences Po Lille

SCIENCES PO LILLE

Sciences Po Lille is a prestigious institution of the humanities and social sciences that offers a 5-year master's degree. It is part of three networks of excellence: the Réseau ScPo, the University of Lille and the Conférence des Grandes Ecoles (CGE).

Sciences Po Lille's reputation has made it one of France's most selective universities, with an admission rate that varies between 7% and 15% for its different admission exams.

Students from all four corners of France compose each graduating class, and every year an increasing number of international students come to join them.

True to its public service mission, Sciences Po Lille has placed social diversity at the forefront of its development policy. In 2007, it implemented its Integrated Studies Program (PEI), an educational outreach program that serves nearly 1,000 middle and high school students in the Hauts-de-France region every year.

With its strong international focus, Sciences Po Lille educates future leaders in the economic, administrative, associative, social and political fields in France, Europe and throughout the world.

Sciences Po Lille's multi-disciplinary program allows students to acquire a wide range of skills that are recognized and sought after in the business world, as well as in the public and associative sectors.

Advantaged by its geographical location at the heart of Europe, close to Paris, London and Brussels, Sciences Po Lille quickly developed its international focus. It offers dual-degree programs with universities in Germany, Spain and Italy, and dual master's programs with universities in Hungary and Italy.

All students spend their third year abroad. This immersive experience allows students to improve their language skills, discover new learning environments and expand their cultural horizons.

Today, Sciences Po Lille has a network of 230 international partnerships in over 50 countries all over the world.

Designed to allow for a progressive transition to professional life, the master's programs prepare students to enter the workplace immediately upon obtaining their degree.

Students can choose from over twenty programs, including three dual master's programs with partner institutions in France (Centrale Lille, EDHEC Business School and ESJ Lille) and two international dual master's programs (University of Szeged and Johns Hopkins SAIS Bologna).

Five master's programs offer apprenticeships in the second year:

- Management of Cultural Institutions,
- Rational Business Management,
- Drink, Eat, Live,
- Urban Territorial Governance,
- Audiovisual Industry Management (in partnership with the Series Mania Institute).

The curriculum focuses on contemporary issues, inspired by an active community of teacher-researchers who belong to several University of Lille research groups in the humanities and social sciences:

- CERAPS (political science and public law),
- CLERSE (economics and sociology),
- CRDP (public law),
- CECILLE (languages and civilizations),
- IRHiS (history).

Sciences Po Lille resides on rue Angellier, at the heart of the Saint-Michel district, in historic buildings that were once home to the University of Lille's law and literature departments and the university library.

This location near the Ecole Supérieure de Journalisme, the Palais des Beaux-Arts, the Préfecture, the Maison Internationale des Chercheurs, as well as a synagogue, church and protestant temple, anchors it steadfastly in its role as a crossroads of knowledge, culture and debate, and gives it a unique perspective on contemporary issues.

In the fall, Sciences Po Lille will inaugurate the Workshop, a new building dedicated to teamwork and teaching, thus strengthening its services and connection to the République Beaux-Arts district.

SCIENCES PO LILLE

The library is open from 9am to 10pm, 7 days a week.

The library covers two floors. You'll find quiet, plant-filled workspaces, individual study stations, group workrooms (which can be reserved via the Affluences app), the learning lab, a kitchenette to rehearse a meal, a lounge to read the news, borrow a boardgame, and relax, and an outdoor terrace to get some air, take a coffee break, or enjoy a snack.

At your service

- Varied collections, on site and online, in the humanities, political science, law, economics, international relations, history, but also literature, language and culture, scientific journals, and even DVDs and comics.
- The library also lends everyday objects (from noise-blocking headphones to cellphone chargers, drills and raclette machines).
- You can purchase highlighters and notecards next to the printer, or fill up your water bottle at the fountain.

The library staff is at your disposal to answer any questions, help with research, or listen to your suggestions regarding future library purchases or project ideas.

need some help?

SCIENCES PO LILLE

Are you having money problems, going through a rough patch, need to talk, looking for support and care, or facing more serious problems? Sciences Po Lille staff are available to guide you to the right service to help you make it through difficult times.

Please don't hesitate to contact and talk with your class advisor, academic director, or members of the administrative and academic team: a discreet but present human chain will come together to provide the help you need. Providing quality assistance to our students is a fundamental objective for Sciences Po Lille.

• Computer loans

Your computer isn't working? Sciences Po Lille can help. Every student can request a laptop, depending on availability.

- For a short-term loan (less than a week), contact the library.
- For a persistent problem, see Léa Moine, the campus life and association representative.

Office 1.36 - lea.moine@sciencespo-lille.eu

Financial problems?

• The Commission d'Aides Sociales (Social Support Commission)

The Sciences Po Lille CAS meets 4 times a year to examine the situation of students in difficulty on a case by case basis and propose financial aid. Léa Moine will send an informative email one month before each meeting.

• Social worker

To make a request, you must make an appointment with the University of Lille social worker, Mélina Salomé, who can inform you about the steps to be taken.

Sexual and sexist violence, what should you do?

At Sciences Po Lille

Sciences Po Lille has set up a counseling center for victims and witnesses of sexist and sexual violence. The center is for Sciences Po Lille students and staff.

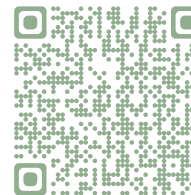

This center provides counseling and information to best guide victims according to their specific situation and needs (recommend professionals who can provide psychological and legal assistance, information about legal or disciplinary procedures, etc.).

You can contact the Sciences Po Lille counseling service at: ecoute.VSS@sciencespo-lille.eu

A counsellor will contact you within 48 hours (2 workdays) and propose a meeting with two counsellors within 7 workdays. The purpose of this first confidential meeting is to listen, help identify the facts and your specific needs, and determine the next possible steps of action.

Off-campus contacts

• CNAÉ

The Cnaé is a reporting and support hotline set up by the MESR and managed by the "En avant toutes" association. It allows callers to talk about and report situations that could be classified as criminal (discrimination, harassment, sexist and sexual violence). Situations are officially reported only if the caller agrees. In such cases, a report is sent to the Rectorat which then contacts the university.

Complementary to Science Po Lille's own hotline, the Cnaé is specifically designed for those who, at first or at all, do not wish to confide their situation within their own university.

reporting procedures

SCIENCES PO LILLE

Sexual, sexist, homophobic and transphobic violence Reporting a situation

• Who can report an incident?

Any person or group of people who were a victim or witness. Any and all members of the staff (administrative and/or academic) and any and all students may call upon this service.

• How do I make a report?

Go to the website

www.sciencespo-lille.eu/signalement, where you'll find the online report form.

• What happens once a report is filed?

The report will be examined by a group of counsellors and appropriate recommendations will be made to the director, who is the only person who can instigate procedures: administrative inquiry and, if necessary, invoke the disciplinary board. You will be contacted within 2 workdays to finalize and, if needed, complete your report and determine any assistance you may need.

• Why make a report?

To evaluate the situation, according to the facts and evidence provided, instigate any provisional measures and disciplinary actions that may be necessary.

• What about confidentiality?

The support is strictly confidential.

If the report is anonymous, no action (support, procedures, etc.) can be taken. If a disciplinary procedure is instigated, your identity, and that of any witnesses, will appear in the case file and the disciplinary report. The members of the disciplinary board must respect confidentiality throughout the entirety of the procedure (once the investigators have been assigned, they have two months to complete the investigation).

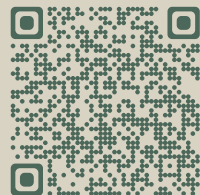

FOR MORE INFORMATION SEE THE FAQ ONLINE:

Racism, anti-Semitism, discrimination Counselling and support for victims

• Who can report an incident?

Any and all students, any and all members of staff who are victim or witness to acts of discrimination or racist or anti-Semitic remarks made by a student or a member of the academic, administrative or technical staff.

• How do I report an incident?

The Combatting racism, anti-Semitism and discrimination advisor is available to listen, inform, support and guide you with complete confidentiality. You can contact her at this address:

racisme-antisemitisme-discriminations@sciencespo-lille.eu

To report an incident and fill out the referral form, go to the Equality page on the Sciences Po Lille website:

<https://signalement.sciencespo-lille.eu/>

• What should be reported?

Any advocacy of hate against a person or group, insult or defamation addressed to a person or group based on their race or their real or assumed belonging to a given religion. Any discrimination of a person based on their handicap, race, gender, sexual orientation, gender identity, or real or assumed belonging to a given religion.

• What happens once a report is filed?

The report will be examined collectively by the "Reports of racism, anti-Semitism and discrimination" panel, which will provide Sciences Po Lille's director with their recommendations on the most appropriate steps of action to be taken to address the reported incident. The disciplinary board could be invoked if the circumstances so require.
